

COAST RECORD.

DROVE THE APACHES.

BLOODLESS CAMPAIGN OF THE TERRITORIAL AUTHORITIES.

The Savages were on the Warpath After the Tribe of Zunis Who Killed a Redskin Family Near the Red Rocks.

New Mexico and Arizona Forces Intercepted the Pioneers and Herded Them Back onto Their Reservation.

Unsuccessful Skeleton Hunt at San Jose—Three Men Injured at Santa Rosa—Advices from Hawaii.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] JEROME (A. T.) Sept. 1.—New Mexico and Arizona authorities succeeded in intercepting the Apache Indians who passed through Jerome a few days ago, on the trail of the Zuni tribe of Indians that was held responsible for the murder of a family of the former tribe near the Red Rocks. The Apaches were driven back to their reservation near Camp Verde.

AGUIRRE AND HIS AX. Angelinos Appointed After Decapitations at San Quentin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Sept. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Warden Aguirre again swung his ax today, and as a result, two more Los Angeles are placed in comfortable berths. The fortunate southerners are George McDougall, appointed shipping clerk, and Charles Grise, appointed foreman of the stock farm. William Byrnes of San Rafael was made superintendent of the jute mill. He worked for Dan Burns in the recent Senatorial fight, and this is his reward.

George McDougall, the new shipping clerk, has been living recently in San Francisco, and his appointment was credited to that county. It is understood, however, that he came from Los Angeles immediately after the inauguration of Gov. Gage, and that his interests are in the southern part of the State.

The position of foreman of the stock farm, to which Charles Grise has been appointed, is one of the most desirable positions at the prison. Two months ago, the Board of State Prison Directors raised his salary from $80 to $90 a month. It was then understood that the place was being prepared for one of the Governor's favorites, John Jones, who held it until his tenure was short, and frankly admitting he did not expect to remain, Grise comes from Compton, Los Angeles county.

With these appointments, Aguirre has exhausted the patronage of the prison with the exception of three minor officers and three guards. He surprised everyone last night by discharging Silas Parker, the old soldier who has been guard for a number of years. Parker is a veteran of the civil war and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. His record, it is believed, made him a fixture at the prison.

OFFICERS' SKELETON HUNT.

First One Was Unsuccessful, But Another Will Be Organized.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SAN JOSE, Sept. 1.—Sheriff Langford and Deputy Reeves have reached here from their unsuccessful hunt for the skeleton seen in the mountains near Pacheco Pass. The Sheriff says there is no doubt but that the skeleton is that of a man, and that the skeleton was seen by Fred Keeler of Visalia. He saw it, Keeler is a reliable young man. He was lost and badly frightened when he stumbled across the remains, and only sought to get away from the place and into the road once more.

The belief which the searching officers have had that the bones are those of Dunham has become a fact. The finding conviction, Sheriff Langford has determined to find them, and he is now preparing to organize a big searching party equipped to search in that desolate country for days. It is possible that the sheriffs of Fresno, Merced and San Benito counties will be asked to join with a similarly-equipped party.

Langford would not have given up the search without a fight, but the fact that Keeler was forced to be in Visalia today. He will arrange his affairs and join the Sheriff in the next hunt, which will probably be some time next week. Langford says all facts known point to the remains being those of Dunham.

ADVISES FROM HAWAII.

Ostriches for Pasadena and a Representative for Congress.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The steamship Nippon Maru arrived tonight from Hongkong and Yokohama, via Honolulu. The Associated Press representative at Honolulu sends the following, under date of August 28: "At the coming session of Congress, Hawaii will be represented by William O. Smith, formerly Attorney-General of this country. He will be appointed by President Dole. Mr. Smith will probably represent the Chamber of Commerce also.

"The project of securing the emigration of laborers from the northern provinces of Italy to these islands has not been given up. Minister S. M. Damon will leave this city for a trip abroad, September 2, and will extend his stay at Honolulu, and is preparing to consult with the government at Rome regarding the labor question. Minister Damon goes well supplied with statistics and is prepared to refute the stories of ill-treatment of laborers on these islands, which have been sent out under the name of a report on the local labor market.

"The matter of settling the bills for the keep of the Hawaiian Islands, a landing here has not been settled. The United States government has consented to pay the salaries of guards, but will not undertake the bills for food furnished, and the Hawaiian government has decided that it is not responsible. The matter will be referred to the next Legislature. The amount will hardly exceed $4000.

"The transport Senator arrived from San Francisco on the 22d. After taking coal she sailed for Manila last night. The vessel's departure was hastened owing to a row between some drunken soldiers and the police.

"The Hawaiian Railroad, running from Mahukona to Niihau, has been sold by the Wilder Steamship Company to the Kohala Sugar Company. The price stated is $35,000.

"Mrs. Inez S. Cowles met with a street accident on the 22d, and received injuries from which she died twenty-four hours later. The deceased came here about five months ago from Galena, Ill. She leaves an adopted son at San Mateo, Cal.

The steamer W. G. Hall brought eleven ostriches from Kauai. They are survivors of forty-three which were taken two or three years ago. They have been purchased for the ostrich farm at Pasadena, and will be shipped on the bark Mauna Loa. This probably marks the end of attempts at ostrich farming in the Hawaiian Islands.

NAVAL OFFICERS RETURN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Lieutenant-Commander G. Hanus, U.S.N., was a passenger on the Nippon Maru. He left here some months ago, as the executive officer of the Wheeler. The Wheeler, since her arrival in the Philippines, has been engaged in cruising among the southern islands of the group.

Another naval officer on the Maru was Dr. Leiber Van Wedekind, a surgeon in the navy.

PROPERTY ASSESSMENTS.

Sacramento County's Roll Shows a Decrease Over Last Year. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—The State Board of Equalization this morning took up Sacramento county, which was represented by Chief Deputy Assessor Kay. He gave a lot of information relative to the value of business property which the board is not satisfied is properly assessed. The assessment roll shows a decrease of $114,444 over last year.

This afternoon Assessor Dalton, Dr. George C. Pardee and Supervisors Church, Roth and Mitchell appeared before the board in behalf of Alameda.

TAX RATE FIXED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—The State Board of Equalization met this evening for the purpose of equalizing the county assessment rolls, and Beamer started the trouble by moving to increase Alameda county's assessment 15 per cent. Alex Brown seconded the motion, but it was lost by the votes of Toland, L. H. Brown and Colgan. Toland, L. H. Brown and Colgan voted to increase Alameda's assessment 5 per cent., or to increase it 10 per cent., provided Beamer would agree to vote for a similar increase in Mendocino county. This Beamer declined to do, and Colgan, saying he supposed it was up to him, moved that the Auditor's reports of the several counties be accepted by the board without change. The motion carried, L. H. Brown, Toland and Colgan voting aye; Alex Brown and Beamer, no.

With all county rolls standing as received from the Auditor, the total value of county property aggregates, inclusive of railroad values, $148,283,820, amount to be raised by taxation exclusive of the 2-cent university tax, $6,575,497, making the tax rate for the ensuing year, 60.1 cents on the $100, divided as follows: General fund, 38.5 cents; school fund, 21.5 cents; interest and sinking fund, 1.3 cents; university fund, 2 cents; total, 60.1 cents.

YUMA FIRE VICTIMS.

Wilson's Remains Found—Tramp Says He Lost Two Companions.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] YUMA (Ariz.) Sept. 1.—The mangled remains of Rodolfo Wilson, one of the victims of Wednesday's fire, was recovered from the ruins late this evening. The trench dug yesterday by convicts drained the water out of the basement early this morning, and the work of recovering the dead was carried to better advantage. A large force of convicts worked diligently in the ruins all day, but there is a vast amount of debris to handle yet. John Chetoff, proprietor of the building that was destroyed, arrived from Los Angeles this evening, and immediately put every available man in town at work in the basement, where bodies are buried beneath several feet of debris.

The body of young Wilson, which was recovered this evening, was not badly burned, but was in such a state of decomposition that it was handled with much difficulty. The funeral will take place immediately after the body was recovered.

The remains of James Tapia, a seventeen-year-old boy, are the only one positively known to be in the ruins. A tramp, however, states he is certain two of his comrades were killed. They were asleep some distance from the store when the fire broke out. When they saw the fire was in the store, they rushed to the scene, where they got what clothing they needed and left town to avoid arrest.

At the present rate of progress, the work of searching the ruins will be finished within twenty-four hours.

MRS. CRAVEN'S ALLOWANCE.

Fair's Children Deny That She Is Entitled to It.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—In the Superior Court today, Charles L. Fair, Mrs. Theresa A. Oelrichs and Mrs. Virginia Vanderbilt, children of James G. Fair, filed answers to the petition of Mrs. Nettie Craven for a family allowance of $5000 a month, as the widow of James G. Fair.

The answer of Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt was sworn to by their agent and attorneys in fact, Hermann Oelrichs, they being absent from the State. The answer of Mrs. Craven denied that the annual rents and profits of the estate are $5000, as she claimed, and that she has any claim on the estate.

A demurrer on behalf of Charles L. Fair to the petition of Mrs. Craven to have the decree of distribution of the real estate to the children set aside, was also filed. It states that the time in which a decree to vacate the decree could be made has long since expired.

LACK OF EVIDENCE.

Witnesses in Knowles and Salbach Case Decline to Answer.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] STOCKTON, Sept. 1.—In the preliminary trial of Knowles and Salbach, the witnesses in the case declined to answer on the ground of incriminating themselves.

Salbach and Knowles were discharged through lack of evidence. This practically kills the other cases.

COLLIDED WITH FLAT CARS.

Three Men Injured in an Accident Near Santa Rosa.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SANTA ROSA, Sept. 1.—As the result of an accident on the Sonoma County's lumbering road last night, Engineer M. Deal and Conductor T. Lane were fatally and Fireman Ed Leaman was seriously injured. The accident occurred on the curve of the road some 200 yards west of the mill, and was caused by a train laden with logs colliding with some flat cars that had been left on the main track. When the engine struck the first of the cars the forward trucks were derailed and the momentum of the laden train carried the wreckage for some distance ahead, finally throwing the engine on its side off the track.

Deal and Lane were found lying near the tracks unconscious and badly injured. They escaped with serious injuries.

SACRAMENTO'S HOT TIME.

Baby Show, Live Stock, Native Sons and Horse Races.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Sept. 1.—All the trains coming to this city tonight were crowded with people. Some were Sacramento residents who had been away on vacations, but the greater number were visitors who come to attend the State Fair, which opens Monday.

It is expected to be the greatest exhibition of the kind ever held in the State. There are special features for each day of the two weeks, such as grandeur day, Monday; Crowsley day, Tuesday; Native Sons and Daughters day, Wednesday; commercial travelers' day, etc.

The first night there will be a baby show, and every night at the Pavilion there is to be an attractive entertainment. The live-stock exhibit and races promise to be of unusual interest, and great crowds are looked for.

Apostle of Single Tax.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—John Sherwin Crosby, who is known as the apostle of single-tax, is in this city for the purpose of attending the sixtieth anniversary of Henry George's birthday. Crosby is a lawyer by profession, and has his home in New York. He has been advocating single-tax for twenty years, and published the first single-tax paper. The first issue appeared in 1884. He was one of the chief orators at Henry George's funeral.

Chicago Man's Appeal.

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Sept. 1.—The appeal of William Armstrong of Chicago for a reversal of the decision of Judge Jacobs of Seattle, who refused to grant his petition for release, is being tried today in the Supreme Court. Armstrong is a writ of habeas corpus, came up in the State Supreme court today. Owing to insufficient notice, the court refused to hear argument in the case. It will now go over to the October term of court.

Steamer and Raft Overdue.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The steamer Carina, towing the largest raft launched this season, is several days out from Puget Sound. For twenty-four hours, a twenty-five-mile northwest wind has been blowing off Mendocino, where the raft should be by this time, and doubts as to her safe arrival exist.

Killed by a Train.

SANTA ROSA, Sept. 1.—This evening a man was killed by a train on the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad was approaching Cloverdale. Alfred Durwell was struck by a fair train, and instantly killed. It is presumed he was asleep on the track.

Hanged Himself in a Barn.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Henry Neuman, residing at No. 714 Bryant street, committed suicide by hanging himself in a barn at the corner of Fifth and Harrison streets today. Reverses of fortune, followed by a period of debauch, were the causes of the act.

Convention of Spiritualists.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The fourth annual convention of the State Association of Spiritualists opened in this city today with a fair attendance, and after receiving the reports of several committees adjourned to await that of the Committee on Credentials.

California Fruit Condemned.

TACOMA (Wash.) Sept. 1.—A carload of fruit was condemned by Fruit Inspector W. T. Tomlin today. The fruit was received from California. The fruit was badly infected with the San Jose scale and codlin moth.

TRIAL OF RIOTERS.

Aftermath of the Trouble With Negroes at Darien, Ga.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] DARIEN (Ga.) Sept. 1.—The trial of five of the negro rioters began this morning. Among them are two women. Sheriff Blount has his special deputy, T. A. Bailey, who intended to carry Henry Delagel to Savannah, but who were intimidated by the presence of the negroes and the ringing of the church bells, were called to the stand. Bailey advised the sheriff to call for help, and the intention of assisting the jail with the prisoner away when he heard the bell ring and "saw the negroes gather, some with guns and all excited. One of the men how on trial, James Wylie, was heard by Bailey to say that if Delagel was taken from the streets of Darien would run with blood.

The sensational feature of Sheriff Blount's testimony was that he summoned a number of negroes to guard the jail after the demonstration, and among them was Ben Dunham, who had been in the crowd with a gun at the height of the tumult. Blount explained that he had placed this guard at the jail to ease the minds of the negro population.

W. G. Charlton is conducting the examination of witnesses for the prosecution, and Judge H. H. D. Twigg for the defense. The grand jury were all returned. Thirty-seven true bills were returned, and in twenty-two cases no bills were returned. The grand jury were all returned. Thirty-seven true bills were returned, and in twenty-two cases no bills were returned. The grand jury were all returned. Thirty-seven true bills were returned, and in twenty-two cases no bills were returned.

PACKING PLANT BURNS.

Refrigerator and Freight Cars and Valuable Machinery Destroyed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1.—An early hour fire broke out at an early hour this morning in the big plant of the Jacob Dole Packing Company, which covers several acres of ground on the west river bottoms between Ninth street and the Missouri River. The fire started in the fertilizing department, burned through the engine-room and was burning fiercely before any fire apparatus arrived.

The water pressure in the vicinity was very low, and the firemen were handicapped in their work. The fertilizing department, the engine-room, the ice plant, the sausage department and the warehouse were destroyed. Much costly machinery, and other parts of the plant were more or less damaged.

BREAKS OUT AGAIN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2, 3.20 a.m.—The fire has broken out again, and spread through the main plant, and the indications are that everything save the warehouses will be destroyed. Several refrigerator and freight cars in the Dole company's yards have been destroyed.

The Times this morning estimates the loss at $500,000. The plant employs about one thousand men.

GLITTERING WEALTH

HALF A MILLION IN DUST FROM ALASKA.

Five Hundred Fortunate and Unfortunate Miners Arrive at Seattle. Many of Them With Hard-Luck Stories to Tell.

Ships Encounter Terrible Windstorm on Bering Sea—Three Arrive at Vancouver With News from Dawson City.

Revenue Cutter Corwin to Take a Party to Investigate the Murder of Members of the Jessie Expedition.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 1.—Two steamers arrived from Alaska today bringing about five hundred miners, fortunate and unfortunate. The Laurada came from St. Michaels and the Humboldt from Skagway. The total amount of gold dust they brought down is estimated at half a million. The reports from the Cape Nome district are still conflicting.

S. M. Warren and H. O. Roberts of Denver brought out $50,000 from the Eagle City district. J. Dickinson, who has been in that district six years, had $25,000.

From the Klondike come J. H. Ladd with $20,000; E. M. McGrath with $50,000, and Charles Anderson with $40,000. Many hard-luck stories are also told.

T. C. Martin of Chicago lies in Providence Hospital, and his old partner, Thomas Craig of the same place, is dead on the barren and inhospitable shores of Kotzebue Sound. Martin went in two years ago and is a physical wreck, glad to have escaped with his life.

P. J. Peterson of Chicago, who came back on the Laurada, said he has an iron constitution and does not seem to be much the worse off for a hard winter spent in the Kotzebue country. "The only one there out of thirty-one, who pitched camp," he said, "that was able, when the ice broke up, to walk out on straight legs. Peterson wintered about two hundred and sixty-five miles up the Kobuk River, from the mission on Hoodum Inlet. Dr. Graves of Redding, Cal., died in the Koyukuk country of spinal meningitis.

Bering Sea was swept by a terrific windstorm on the 19th, 20th and 21st of August, that made all shipping caught out in it struggle hard to live. The British runabout Phoebe, the United States cutter Rush and Corwin and the Laurada were caught out and had a hard time of it. All escaped, however, but the Phoebe lost two lifeboats, which were smashed by heavy seas washing her decks. The Rush and the Corwin, after the storm, put into Dutch Harbor, where the Laurada saw them.

DUST ON THE DIRIGO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] YANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 1.—The Dirigo arrived from Alaska today with 200 passengers and gold dust estimated at $250,000. The biggest winner is Barclay of North Dakota, with $100,000. Among the passengers was C. S. Carter, who went in over the Edmonton route. He reports that Dr. Mason of Chicago and others who were sick with scurvy at Wind City, got through safely.

Since the opening of navigation, according to passenger lists, 347 people have left Dawson and 283 have arrived there. This aggregate does not include 1000 or 1500 men who floated down the river to Cape Nome. It is estimated that there are 3000 "broken" men in the Klondike who must get out of the country or become objects of charity next winter.

The government is building a wagon trail from Caribou Crossing to a point below White Horse, through the Watson Valley and around Thirty Mile River. This will lessen the distance on the winter trail fully 100 miles.

INDIAN MASSACRE.

Investigation of the Murder of the Jessie Expedition Begins.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] ST. MICHAELS (Alaska), Aug. 14.—[Wired from Seattle, Sept. 1.] The investigation of the reported murder of the members of the Jessie expedition by Indians, last summer, of the Kuskowim River, last summer, has begun. The revenue cutter Corwin, Capt. Herling, left today for Nunivak Island, where R. C. Marsten, a trader who says the members of the expedition were massacred, has been taken aboard. The Corwin will then go to the mouth of the Kuskowim and land an investigating party, which, besides members of the crew, will include United States Marshal Shoup, who arrived here several days ago in company with United States District Judge Johnson. It is expected the investigation will last several days.

The small military jail at this fort is almost filled with prisoners. They have all been remanded for trial at Sitka this fall.

Another murder is reported to have taken place early in July near Hamilton on the Yukon River. Martin Engbrecht, a prospector, was killed down the river from Dawson in a small boat with a companion named Tokelson, was shot and killed by an Indian in a canoe. The Indian has not been apprehended. The murder was probably to avenge some fancied wrong inflicted in the past by a white man.

A veritable stampede has set in from this place to Cape Nome, not less than fifty employees of the Alaska Commercial Company and Northern American Transportation and Trading Company leaving this morning for St. Michaels, Alaska, with 200 passengers from Dawson and Cape Nome, and a small amount of gold dust. Purser Coup says he had $50,000 worth in his custody.

Cape Nome passengers report that a few days before they left, 300 miners were placed under arrest for trespass. The arrest was made by Lieut. Craig and a detachment of ten men, on the complaint of a company which claims to own a strip on the beach between low and mean high tide. The miners were held under arrest but a few hours. Lieut. Craig saw that it would be impossible to provide for such a large number, and ordered their release, notifying the company to seek redress in court. The strip in dispute has never been officially surveyed.

BEYOND THEIR DEPTH.

Four Children and One Man Drowned While Sea Bathing.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] BRIDGEPORT (Conn.) Sept. 1.—One man and four children, three girls and one boy, were drowned at Black Rock today, while sea bathing.

ELIAH MIDDLEBROOK, a farmer of Easton.

MAY MIDDLEBROOK, 14 years old, his daughter.

TOMMY KOEHLER, 14 years old, of Easton.

ETHEL HITT, 11 years old, Bridgeport.

FLORENCE HITT, 14 years old, her sister.

The five victims with Andrew Koehler, father of the drowned boy, and Louis Hitt of this city, father of two of the drowned girls, were spending the day at Black Rock. While in bathing, they all got beyond their depth. Koehler and Hitt succeeded in getting ashore themselves, but the others perished. Three of the bodies were recovered.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Three Men Killed and Four Fatally Injured in Michigan.

JAMES J. HILL'S SONS.

Two of Them are Now Vice-Presidents of Railroads.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] ST. PAUL (Minn.) Sept. 1.—Today James N. Hill, eldest son of President James J. Hill, became third vice-president of the Great Northern Railroad Company, a position newly created.

Louis W. Hill, another son, became vice-president of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota. The title of general manager is not attached to the new office of third vice-president, although J. N. Hill will perform most of the functions of general manager.

The promotion of the two sons of the president is accepted by most railroad men as an indication that Mr. Hill, senior, is desirous of gradually lifting some of the responsibility of the administration upon the shoulders of his sons, after they have thoroughly mastered the wonderful system by which he has built the road single-handed.

TROUBLE WITH CHINESE.

Germany Threatens to Take Steps to Protect Her Interests.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] LONDON, Sept. 1.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A special dispatch received here today from Shanghai reports that serious trouble has occurred in the Kiao Chou hinterland between the Germans and Chinese, in which six of the latter were shot.

The German Minister to China, Baron von Ketteler, has handed an ultimatum to the Chinese government, declaring that unless there is security of life and property and order is maintained in the hinterland, Germany will take steps to protect her own interests.

ARIZONA.

AN EXAMINATION OF CUSTOMS COLLECTOR CHENOWETH'S BOOKS.

Miner-Owner Discusses the Yaqui Outbreak—Nogales School Board Election—John Bradbury Says $400,000 is the Yearly Output of His El Tajo Mines.

NOGALES (Ariz.) Aug. 30.—[Regular Correspondence.] Those opposed to the retention in office of Customs Collector H. K. Chenoweth now claim to be having an inning. For a fortnight past there have been in evidence in Nogales two Treasury Department inspectors, Converse T. Smith of Boston and J. T. Power of San Francisco. They have been examining very carefully into the books and procedure of the customhouse, probing for evidence on the charges that the collector carried dummies on his pay-roll. A large number of witnesses have been examined on both sides, but the trend of the evidence cannot be learned. Present also in Nogales during the past week, on business connected with the investigation, has been Special Agent William E. Pulliam, the customs service, later appointed to his office, with headquarters in El Paso.

All reports reaching Nogales from the Yaqui country show that the situation is local in character. A recent arrival from the Yaqui River Valley is Col. A. E. Moore of New York, an owner of mining property near the Yaqui Reservation. Concerning the outbreak he said:

"I find no indications of Yaqui depredations in any of the region I passed through; nor did I hear of any in that region. Naturally the people in that district are alarmed, and many women have been sent from the settlements and haciendas to places of safety as a matter of precaution. When I left Ortiz for Bonancita last Saturday with our superintendent, Johnson, I did not know what I might encounter, and I took a Yaqui guide with me. When I arrived at the camp I found everything safe. Going and coming I met Yaquis, and through the guide secured information that leads me to believe that nothing serious will result from the trouble. The Indians told me it is not a war, but a strike, rather a gathering of Indian and Mexican renegades, whose actions are condemned by all their tribesmen of the better class. As a matter of fact, my conclusion is that this trouble means no more to Sonora or Mexico than an overindulgence in firewater does among our own Indians.

"This band of renegades began its annual pascol on San Juan's day, June 24, and the dance and carousal that follows is only limited by the supply of rations and mescal. The renegades probably wrought themselves into conditions of drunken frenzy, as Uncle Sam's reds frequently do. I believe that Jack Remley and Charley Miller, encountered or passed near one of these pascols, were mistaken for Mexican scouts and shot. I do not believe these renegades will leave the reservation, nor do I believe that any Americans are in the slightest danger. If the entire fighting strength of the tribe were to the warpath, I would say the danger is great, but such does not seem to be the condition. I feel safe so far as my property is concerned, for I have confidence in the ability of the Mexican troops to care for the renegades, and I believe they will or already have paid reparation for the murder of Remley and Miller."

The contract for the construction of the new Nogales schoolhouse has been awarded to J. J. Vanderhoof of Nogales, for $13,422.

Though the school bonds have been sold, there is to be a new school-bond election September 18. This has been necessitated by the discovery that the bonds as prepared, in denominations of $1000 each, could not be redeemed as provided in the former election call without splitting. The new bonds will alternate in denominations of $1000 and $500, one of each to be annually redeemed during the sinking-fund period.

By the annual report of Judge E. B. Williams, Superintendent of Schools for Santa Cruz county, it is found that the county has six schools, with seventeen teachers. Pupils enrolled number 994, 490 being boys and 504 girls. The term salaries aggregated for the past year $228,000, male teachers averaging $75 a month and the females $63.75. The average term was six and one-half months.

During a late visit to Nogales of General Manager Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific, he stated that his company has in view the construction of the Sonora railway that will raise the equipment and roadbed of that line to the standard of the main line. He admitted that the company has in view the extension of the road from Guaymas southward into the rich agricultural and mining lands of Sonora.

George Crocker, second vice-president of the Southern Pacific system, has presented a library of 550 volumes to the employees of the Sonora railway. The books are to be placed in the depot building in Nogales, to them being a large number of volumes of standard works, heretofore collected or donated by local officials of the railway.

During the latter part of September there will be held at Mazatlan, Sonora, the Feast of San Francisco, the greatest of the fiestas of Northern Mexico. Thousands of visitors are expected.

The supplies and bullock of Cobre Grande camp are hereafter to be handled at a Nogales instead of Naco. The distance is seventy miles, somewhat less than from Naco, and the railway charges are lower.

Something unexpected in the history of the customs service happened in the voluntary surrender of Rafael Ferras, a Mexican long sought on a charge of smuggling. He was captured by Mounted Inspector George Webb in March, 1898. Webb shot the smuggler's horse under him, but he himself lost his horse when he mounted to secure his prisoner. Rafael seized the opportunity to make a successful sprint across the international line.

The new court of Independent Order of Foresters has been installed with the following officers: President, Deputy, William Schuckman; Chief Ranger, Charles E. Perkins; Vice Chief, F. L. Kiel; Recording Secretary, J. H. Pitzer; Financial Secretary, S. F. Noon.

The Colorado-Creston and Grand Canyon mining companies of Minas Prietas, Sonora, have started work on the construction of a water system that will bring an ample supply of water to the camp from a tributary of the Yaqui River. There will be sixteen miles of steel piping, varying in diameter from five to seven inches. The total expenditure is expected to exceed $200,000. The contract for the pipe has been let to Roy & Titcomb of Nogales for the National Tube Company.

Work on the extension of the Sonora road to the Baranca coal fields of Sonora is expected to be completed before the end of the year. The Southern Pacific interests involved have arranged for the payment in Guaymas in October of $125,000, in part payment of their purchase price.

J. A. Naugle, manager of the Sonora Railway, and George Krantz, owners of the Union mine at Las Prietas, have sold the property for $200,000 gold.

John Bradbury of Los Angeles passed through Nogales lately on his way to his silver mines at El Tajo, fifty miles south of Mazatlan, Sonora. He denies that the mines are at Las Prietas, and states that the income continues at the satisfactory figure of $400,000 annually, reckoned upon the American gold standard.

A large number of American prospectors are flocking into Moctezuma mining district, Sonora, drawn by late discoveries of silver. One of the claims of the Union mine at Las Prietas, sold the property for $200,000 gold.

In a curiously-marked pot of urn or copper, buried three feet below the surface near San Felipe, Sonora, Luis R. Goldbaum found gold nuggets to the value of $200. Urn and nuggets are supposed to have been buried by some Spaniard, earlier at the time of the first conquest.

September 1. Don Celestino Ortiz will assume the office of Governor of the State of Sonora.

A test Artesian well is to be sunk at Benson by the hydraulic process, pumps and machinery having been ordered from Chicago for the purpose. In the neighborhood of Benson is an immense amount of the best of farming land, and the district is usually favored with heavier and more frequent rains than any other part of Southern Arizona, and with good flowing wells could readily support a large population.

An El Paso steamer was in Nogales last week purchasing cattle for shipment to Cuba. He secured 1000 head for immediate delivery and arranged for the purchase of several thousand more.

Wreck on the Union Pacific. TOPEKA (Kan.) Sept. 1.—The Union Pacific west-bound overland passenger which left here at noon was wrecked on the tracks near the city, by running into the rear end of a freight train. The wreck was caused by the althorities of the passenger train failing to work the engineer and fireman saved themselves by jumping. Several freight cars were thrown from the track and the baggage car was telescoped. Beyond a late shaking up none of the passengers were injured.

ALL FOR FIFTY CENTS.

All the wisest physicians and the most experienced practitioners can do for a sick person, including the most careful examination, advice and medicine necessary, are furnished by the Home Medical Institute, 215 South Spring street, for the comparatively insignificant sum of 50 cents, half a dollar. These prudent doctors are strong in the conviction that they owe it to humanity to publish as widely as possible the fact that for so small a sum as this the unrivaled abilities of learned specialists are within the reach of every suffering human being. There is no further charge. Feel perfectly safe on that score.

BLONDE BEAUTIES.

THEATRICAL MANAGERS HAVE
- DETHRONED THEM NOW.

The Rose-and-Lily-Hued Beauties of the Stage No Longer in Favor.
Brunettes are Now All the Rage.
Modern Replicas of the Enchanting Cleopatra Now Coming to the Front.

[Minneapolis Tribune:] This alleged passing of the blonde has set certain historical delvers at work to hunt up the record of some of the most famous of the rose-and-lily-hued beauties who, since the creation of the world, have held sway over the hearts and fortunes of men.

The record begins with Lilith, the bad, beautiful, blonde, first wife of most quarrelsome and tantalizing disposition. We are told that Adam, who was the most patient of men, put up with her golden and smiling face, and her long, flowing blonde hair. Then, although she was the only woman among them, he cast her off. He did not find it good for man to be alone, and he longed for a companion of his solitude. She was beautiful as the angels and akin to them in spirit, until she fell beneath the spell of the forbidden fruit, eating of the fruit of the forbidden tree.

"Brought death into the world and all our woe,"

Milton raves over "the golden tresses that hung disheveled down to her knees, that golden hair makes her a blonde of the purest type."

Pandora is represented in the old Greek myth as a blonde of the most radiant beauty, who was created with every fascination that could ensnare the hearts of men, she was sent to earth to relieve the world, which was filled with evils that, when once loose, would work the undoing of the human race.

So, too, the enchantress, who threw her baleful spells around the astute Ulysses and his comrades, was also the loveliest of women. So, too, the blonde of Paris gave the prize of beauty over to all the other goddesses. Of all the blondes who have wrought mischief in this world, ours is the most beautiful, the most palm. But for her, Troy might still be standing, and its glorious story would have been such a happy ending, and Virgil, would not have been written.

Another mischievous blonde was Pope Joan, the Saladin of the Middle Ages, who used to set off the splendor of her golden locks and the exquisite fairness of her complexion, with gowns that were as black as the night. Cleopatra, Clelia Borgia was a brilliant blonde other expert poisoner, Mme. Brinvilliers Queen Elizabeth of England was her unhappy rival and kinswoman Mary, Queen of Scots.

Were the record of the historical brunettes kept, they would form a chapter quite as racy as that of the blondes. Cleopatra, the enchantress of the Nile, with her "brown of Egypt," was one of the sexiest and most bewitching and wickedest. Ninon de Lenclos, who died at 90 years, beautiful to the last, was a brunette made mad by the love she gave to M. de Catherine de Medici. Laura, in whose praise the enamored Petrarch wrote 30 sonnets, it is said, was also a chemist and alchemist.

In art, poetry and fiction the blonde have reigned queens from the beginning. Written pastels are the best beauty pictures ever painted. The beautiful, stately, lovely and high-souled Rebecca, of Scott's "Ivanhoe," has been the model for many a blonde. The fair-haired blondes of the Rowena type have been chosen for this honor.

As the dark races become incumbered by their own pigmentation, it is rapidly going on, the olive, languorous beauty of the south will be more and more in evidence and asserted. The painter, playwright and romancer. But the "passing of the blonde" will be only for a brief space and within narrow limits. The world of the future will still find their separate coteries of admirers, and none will grudge the darker beauties a little larger place in popular favor.

HOW THE CITY'S MONEY IS TO BE USED THIS YEAR.

Report of the Finance Committee on the Annual Allowances—Many Heavy Cuts on Department Estimates.

Antonio Ortega, a Young Mexican, Arrested on Charge of a Serious Crime, and Will Be Sentenced Today.

Judge Trask Takes the Blanchard Divorce Case Under Advisement.

Young Boy's Trouble With His Stepmother.

The allotment of funds to the various city departments, and the amount of appropriations to be made to meet the general municipal expenses for the current fiscal year, have been agreed upon by the members of the City Council.

The list of appropriations and allowances will be presented at the next meeting of the City Council by the Finance Committee. Several of the departments will be disappointed because their estimates were unmercifully cut, but the necessity for these reductions will be explained in the committee's report.

The proposition to establish a new city department to be known as the department of electricity, has been agreed to by the members of the City Council.

The department of electricity will be created by the City Council by the Finance Committee. Several of the departments will be disappointed because their estimates were unmercifully cut, but the necessity for these reductions will be explained in the committee's report.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Something—possibly dire necessity—has hit the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce on its corporate funnybone, and has amazingly cleared the mental vision of its members, for now they petition the Common Council of that city to take steps to work the only practicable method of supplying it with water, that exists, i.e., tunneling the mountain to tap the Santa Ynez River. Keen business men who watch the trend of events will rise up and say: "Now, that's business. We know there is water in the river, and don't know there is any in the mountains."

Speaking on the "derrick" trouble now agitating the people of Santa Barbara, the Independent sets forth the case of the derrick men, saying: "They will put up a derrick and protect it with guns if necessary." Some mentally weak fellow once voiced the question: "If an irresistible body meet an immovable body, which will give way?" The question is now before the Barbaenos who constitute the conservative element of the population, and who are jealous of the good name and peaceful reputation of their city. From this distance it looks as if the conservers of good government should cry, "A plague o' both your houses!" and act on the cry.

Some $40,000 worth of buildings are now in course of construction at Santa Ana, and as "trimmings" for this showing, it is reported that the walnut crop in that vicinity is up to concert pitch, and will be as large and fine as in any previous year. It is also on record that the people of this county are to vote on bonds for a fine, new County Courthouse. The perversity of the human heart, as it is in the croaker, keeps him from making these pertinent facts known, yet they constitute a very important truth to property-holders all over Southern California. If such practical proofs of a healthy growth are in evidence now, what may we not look for in a year of plentiful rainfall?

The Pomona Progress, in its last issue, has the following: "D. F. McLeod, who lives on a small two-and-a-half-acre place in the Packard Orange Grove tract, has 100 Valencia Late and sixty Washington navel trees, all 10 years old. During the past season he delivered at the Pomona exchange packing-house 32,770 pounds of fruit for which he received $1039.36." This statement—remarkable in many ways—is given the wider circulation of these columns for the forcible arraignment of lazy and shiftless growers in the valley, and, further, for the excellent weapon it makes with which to "floor" the strident falsehood of the rainfall croaker, resident and non-resident. A 2-cent stamp can bring a verification of this remarkable showing.

The expected and dreaded has happened, and in consequence the mountainsides are ablaze with burning timber for miles. Some careless campers have allowed brands from their camp fires to be blown into adjacent brush and the result for permanent harm cannot be estimated. The government forest patrol is but a handful of men, while the ground to be covered is many square miles of difficult mountain, for nation, and without great care on the part of campers the denuding of the whole range will be but a matter of a few years. The far-reaching, hurtful consequences of such a consummation ought to awaken zeal in every good man's heart to stop this threatened visitation. Bad men—those who do not care for these things—should be summarily dealt with, when proof of their carelessness can be had.

CALIFORNIA AT PARIS.

SECRETARY OF STATE COMMISSION VISITS LOS ANGELES.

Hearty Co-operation and Good Exhibits Promised by Many Firms and Individuals—Displays of Wine, Oil, Fruit, Marble and Varied Products Planned.

Varney W. Gaskell, secretary of the California Paris Exposition Commission, leaves Los Angeles on last evening's Owl, after a two days' visit which assured him that Southern California will be excellently represented at the great end-of-the-century fair.

Mr. Gaskell was taken by Maj. Ben Truman, who is the Los Angeles member of the State Paris Commission, and Secretary Frank Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce to see a number of firms and individuals who have promised to send exhibits to Paris. He came to Los Angeles with the idea that he would find a spirit of indifference as regards the enterprise, but he left astonished at the interest shown and the cooperation promised.

The non-perishable exhibits will mostly be forwarded from Southern California to San Francisco by September 12. From there they will be sent to Washington, and from Washington they will be transported to Paris by the government free of charge, and installed by the United States in the American exhibit.

The California commission plans to open headquarters on some prominent Paris street, away from the exposition grounds, and there to maintain an information bureau to advertise the State. The commission has prepared a pamphlet on "The Resources of California," of which 250 copies have been printed, in French, English and German, for distribution at Paris. Another publicity feature is the printing of sets of maps, six in each set, showing the centers of the various industries of the State.

Among the Southern California exhibitors at Paris will be H. Jevne, wines and olive oil; H. J. Woolcott, wines; Los Angeles Art Leather Company, leather goods; South Pasadena Ostrich Farm, ostrich feathers; Southern California Fruit Exchange, dried fruit; Bishop & Co., crystallized soups; which they will be the only American exhibitors, jams, jellies, biscuits, etc.; Miss Bessie Marks, South Pasadena, crystallized soups; Alamos sugar factory, beet sugar; James Hill & Sons, olives; Ackermann & Tussley, San Diego, olive oil; J. S. McIntire, Sespe, extracted honey; Germain Fruit Company, dried fruit, honey, beeswax and bulbs; Banning Company, serpentine marble; George Williams Company, Williams' sauce; Sierra Madre Wine Company, Southern California Wine Company, Star Winery, E. J. Baldwin and H. Boettcher, wines and brandies; E. J. Parker, plaster casts of fish from Catalina, and the Pacific Crumery Company, dairy products.

NO FREE TICKETS.

Courthouse-City Hall Ball Game to Be a Cash Affair.

Inasmuch as the match game of baseball between teams from the Courthouse and City Hall respectively is for the purpose of adding to the fund for Los Angeles's reception to the members of Battery D, upon their return home, it has been announced by the City Hall team that they will object to the issuance of any free tickets. The free list will be abolished if they have their wish, and they themselves are willing to pay their way into the grounds to increase the fund.

The game will be called Monday afternoon promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The price of admission will be 25 cents.

The players have requested the war board to take charge of the sale of tickets among the merchants and at the park, on the day of the game. They desire to turn in as large an amount as possible with the War Board in charge of all the finances incident to the game the players believe a much better return will be made. There will be no expenses for the players, and they are concerned and all the receipts will therefore be just that much to be added to the fund.

The War Board has not yet taken action upon the offer.

Confession by Mrs. Holmes.

Mrs. Sallie C. Holmes, widow of the late C. M. Holmes of Santa Ana, who committed suicide in his home at that place a few weeks since, urgently requests The Times to print the following signed confession, furnished by herself:

"In view of the fact that grave charges were made against the character of C. M. Holmes at the time of his death, and in the light of all that has passed, I feel that I have deeply wronged him by my unjust suspicions, and I wish to make this public acknowledgment as the only restitution I can make him for the injustice which has been done him through these unhappy reports."

[Signed]
His wife, SALLIE C. HOLMES."

National Quarantine Law.

"The desire of California horticulturists for better protection from insect pests and plant diseases has culminated in a movement to have an effective national quarantine law established by Congress. Secretary Edgar Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday received from Secretary B. M. Lelong of the State Board of Horticulture a letter announcing a conference of California fruit-growers is to be held to discuss the provisions needed in such a bill, the design being to secure the introduction of an act at the next session."

BOSTON DRY STORE

239 S. Broadway, opposite City Hall, Los Angeles, Cal.

Two points should have weight with a man in deciding where he buys his furnishings, first, there is the quality, which is here always unquestionable; then there is the price.

the collar and cuff price which we quote will show you how we meet this second point.

silver brand collars and cuffs are made of 2000 linen with coat eyelet button holes and domestic finish, they are equal in wear and style to any 25c line of collars made.

collars two 25c cuffs per 25c

we show them in more than 50 styles, each modish, up-to-date and comfortable. careful comparison convinces us that these goods are superior in quality and style to any other brand of collars and cuffs on the market at this price.

the closing-out prices we have made on certain lines of men's negligee shirts, half hose, neckwear and underwear mean radical savings to every man who visits the department in the next few days.

LAWYERS HAVE A FIGHT.

SANTA MONICA JUSTICE HAD TO DO THE SEPARATING.

City Attorney of That Place Got the Worst of the Deal and Was Paid to Bed—What the Principals Say. Talk of a Suit.

R. R. Tanner, City Attorney of Santa Monica, and J. T. Kiggins, another attorney, came to blows in the courtroom of Justice Jeness in Santa Monica yesterday morning. The trouble between the men arose over the civil suit of C. M. Kiggins vs. E. A. Fountain. Tanner represented Fountain, and Kiggins was attorney for his son, C. M. Kiggins. Upon whom the blame rests for the encounter between the two is a matter about which the principals of the fracas differ, and upon which bystanders throw no light. It is said to be over a misconstruction of words. Kiggins drew the first blood, having hit his opponent a severe blow on the nose, following a close succession with several blows on the head, first hitting him on one side, and then on the other. Tanner also suffering from a sprained knee, and was taken home in a carriage.

Justice Jeness separated the men, and at once handed them into the custody, charged with contempt of court, imposing a fine of $75.

In an interview with The Times correspondent Kiggins said that he was representing the plaintiff in the case of C. M. Kiggins vs. E. A. Fountain; that Tanner opened the argument in the case, and that while he, Kiggins, was addressing the court, Tanner persistently interfered; that he was told several times to be quiet, but he refused to do so; that Tanner became greatly excited, and said in a loud voice: "A man who makes that statement tells an absolute lie," whereupon Kiggins says he pounced upon Tanner, hitting him several times in the face. Kiggins said he was not in the case of heart after the fracas was over, and apologized to Tanner, but that the latter would not listen to his apology.

City Attorney Tanner was found at his home, No. 144 Fourth street, confined to his bed yesterday, and said that on August 18, J. T. Kiggins brought suit against Fountain in the name of his son, C. M. Kiggins, for a claim said to be due to the late firm of Frick & Kiggins. The summons was said to be served August 18, under the law giving Fountain five days in which to answer. But when the papers were brought into the law office of Tanner & Taft, Fountain told Mr. Taft that the summons had been served on him August 19, giving him until August 24 to reply. On the 24th of August Mr. Taft filed a demurrer. Tanner said that the following day Justice Jeness informed him that a default judgment had been entered a few days before the demurrer was filed; that yesterday he made a motion to vacate the judgment on the grounds that the affidavit of service of summons did not show that the party was a resident of this county. At the argument yesterday, Tanner said, he read an opinion given by Judge York of the Superior Court, in a parallel case, in which he held that his contention was correct. Tanner said that this seemed to make Kiggins angry; that he then stated to the court that he had used the form held good by the Supreme Court in every case where a similar matter had come up. Tanner said he then asked Kiggins if he stated to the court as a matter of law that an affidavit of merits in the form used in this case was not sufficient. Instead of answering, Tanner says, Kiggins hauled off and struck him on the left ear, crowding him into a corner against the wall and hitting him several hard blows in the face, and in some manner causing an injury to his knee-joint.

Tanner denies that he made any such remark as stated in the interview with Kiggins.

Dr. Place and Nutting visited Tanner at his home in the afternoon. It is said that a battery charge will be preferred against Kiggins within the next few days, and possibly a damage suit may be instituted as a result of the encounter.

Death of Miss Anna Carson.

Miss Anna Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carson of the Dominguez rancho, and a member of one of the best-known families in this part of the State, died yesterday morning at the home of her uncle, John F. Francis, near Sixth and Main streets, in this city. The cause of her death was cerebral meningitis. She became ill about a month ago, and at first her condition was not regarded as serious. Later, when the seriousness of her illness became apparent, all that medical science could do to relieve her was done, but without avail. For several days it had been realized by her family and friends that she would not recover, but her death was none the less a surprise to them. The deceased was 23 years of age, and was well known all over this and other counties in this part of the State. She leaves besides her parents six brothers and five sisters. One of her brothers is City Auditor E. A. Carson. The funeral will be held Monday morning from the Cathedral, and the interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Huxley's Sentence.

Mrs. May Huxley was sentenced to 100 days' imprisonment for petty larceny yesterday by Justice Austin. The jury had recommended her to the mercy of the court, inasmuch as she had already spent six weeks in jail. The court took cognizance of that fact otherwise the sentence would have been more severe. Attorneys Axtell and Thompson made a motion for a new trial, on the grounds that the court had erred in its rulings, and that some of the jurors had read the newspapers while the case was on trial, but the motion was overruled. No appeal was taken. Mrs. Huxley had two trials before conviction, although there was not the least doubt from the start as to her guilt. The police say she is a chronic shoplifter and cocaine fiend.

Castellano Acquitted.

A. Castellano, proprietor of the Washington saloon, opposite the Plaza on North Main street, was tried for battery yesterday by Justice Austin, and acquitted. Castellano had had a difficulty with J. D. Zech, proprietor of a cigar stand in front of Castellano's saloon. The trouble arose from a dispute over rent. The court said that the saloon-keeper did not handle the cigar-dealer with sufficient violence to constitute battery.

NOTICE TO SCHOOL TEACHERS, BOTH IN CITY AND COUNTRY.

The season for renting pianos is now at hand and we especially desire the patronage of school teachers, because they rent an instrument for a long term of months and also take excellent care of it. As an inducement, we have decided to rent our splendid pianos, we will until September 30th rent at a month's price for $4, and allow the teacher to pay for same on her first salary day. We make these concessions because we want to rent our pianos to the teachers, but all orders must be placed before September 5, as we cannot afford to hold the instruments beyond that date. Remember, the payment for same need not be made until first salary day. We have now a splendid stock to select from. Orders from out-of-town teachers also accepted. NEW MEXICO.

WOOL PLENTIFUL, PRICES HIGH, AND GROWERS HAPPY.

The Territory's Fight to Compel the Standard Oil Company Trust to Comply With Inspection Laws, Bounty for Coyotes' Hides.

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Aug. 28.—(Regular Correspondence.)

Large amounts of wool will be shipped from New Mexico this fall. In Lio Arriba, county the supply is coming forward rapidly. At Chama the amount handled this season is estimated at 1,500,000 pounds. Prices appear to be very satisfactory and wool-growers are inclined to dispose of their crops on the favorable market.

Sheep on the ranges in Bernalillo county are said to be in a very satisfactory condition, although the loss of lambs during the season has been larger than usual.

All of the mailboxes have been removed from Deming, and the disease is now a thing of the past.

A short time ago a disastrous fire wiped out the business portion of Chama. The place is now being built up with brick structures, and is assuming a very brisk appearance.

Severe frosts have recently visited Alamogordo as a result of rain and cloudbursts in the Sacramento Mountains. The streets of Alamogordo became rivers two or three feet deep.

The public citizens of Las Cruces have subscribed funds enough to insure the holding of a county court at that place in October.

Coal oil is causing a run-up in the Territory at present. The recent oil-inspection act the officers of the Territory have been prosecuting the oil trust which operates in the territory, a branch of the Standard Oil trust.

The case of the oil trust, which was brought by the Standard Oil trust, has been submitted on briefs. This case arose under the efforts of the Territory to compel the trust to comply with the law respecting the inspection of oil. Solicitor-General E. L. Bartlett appears for the Territory, and Hon. J.

E. Twitchell for the defendant. The case is expected to settle the validity of the new inspection law.

The price of coal oil in Carlsbad is 20 cents per gallon—the normal price in New Mexico—set in El Paso. The same commodity sells in 10 cents per gallon. It is claimed by some that the 10 or 12 cents difference in price of oil at the two localities is free contribution of oil at the localities.

In the northern part of Hiliaboa county, wolves or coyotes are making havoc among cattle and calves. The ranch-owners have employed a number of men to hunt down the animals. Fifty dollars is the sum offered for each pet, head the government bounty.

SANTA FE.

SANTA FE (N. M.) Aug. 28.—(Regular Correspondence.) The following additional commissioners to the Paris Exposition have been appointed by Gov. Otero: Thomas Wilkinson, Bernalillo county; T. J. Culley, San Miguel county; W. H. Newcomb, Grant county.

The New Mexico Sheep Sanitary Board, consisting of Bolonimo Luna, president; H. W. Kelley and W. S. Prager, held an important meeting lately, relative to the sheep industry. The report of the proceedings will soon be published for free distribution.

An official of the Santa Fe system is quoted as saying that if the people of Santa Fe will donate a $200 bonus to the Santa Fe and the Denver and Rio Grande companies would erect a fine union station at a convenient point in the city. The proposed structure would be somewhat that erected at Las Vegas, and the one proposed for the Santa Fe.

The gang of workmen engaged in constructing a board-gauge track from Creede to Alamogordo on the Alamo division of the Denver and Rio Grande road, are making rapid progress. There is a rumor that the Denver and Rio Grande will extend its lines in New Mexico to Albuquerque.

On account of the Territorial fair at Albuquerque in September, the Santa Fe has made excursion rates of a cent a mile each way from all points east of the Needles.

During the current month the great alfalfa farm in Chavez county was sold for $25,000.

The farm comprises 500 acres.

During the same month 120,000 acres of improved land in Colfax county were sold to the Maxwell Land Grant Company at 70 cents per acre to a stockman, who will convert it into an alfalfa farm. The difference between $20 and 70 cents per acre in connection with these sales suggests the value of alfalfa land in the Territory.

A Gunnyrack Wildcat.

A tale recently floated down from Newhall of young Ned Hedderly's desperate midnight fight with a wounded wildcat, and of his father's wild flight down Placerville Cañon in bare feet, and a nightshirt, to summon help. Mr. Hedderly is sore about that story. He says it was only a gunnyrack wildcat of his own construction, stuffed with shavings and with realistic ears, and that he himself furnished the scratching which sent his son out gunning. The young man blew the varmint's head off and when he went to gather up the corpse, says the father, discovered his mistake. Then some unknown practical joker turned Hedderly's practical joke on its perpetrator by spreading the apocryphal story of his flight in scanty attire. Hedderly fully acknowledges that it was a case of the bitter bit, but he is unsatisfied, and wants to find the man who bit the biter.

NEVER GRIP NOR GRIFE.

The Month of September.

The following data, covering the month of September during a period of twenty-two years, have been compiled from the Weather Bureau records in this city:

The mean or normal temperature was 70 deg.; the warmest month was that of 1888, with an average of 74 deg.; coldest, that of 1889, with an average of 66 deg.; the highest temperature was 108 deg., on September 21, 1885; lowest, 44 deg., on September 23 and 29, 1880; the average precipitation for the month was .08 inches; the greatest monthly precipitation was 7.5 inches, in 1884; least, none, in 1877, 1878, 1879, 1880, 1883, 1886, 1889, 1892 and 1897; the greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any 24 consecutive hours was 7.1 inches, on September 30, 1894. The average number of clear days was 15; partly cloudy, 13; cloudy, 1.

INSIDE A HAREM.

LIFE WITHIN THE CLOSED WALLS OF THE SERAGLIO.

Wealthy Turks' Hospitality to English Guests—Many Wives and House Full of Children—The Really Communal Things Which Take Place Therein.

[New York Times.] However natural or commonplace a thing may be, we have only to surround it with an air of mystery and it is instantly invested with an irresistible charm, and a force of attraction that subdues even the most indifferent. Curiosity, that merciful characteristic, which enables us in our deepest sorrows to take an interest in the affairs of our neighbor, reaches great heights even when means of its gratification are at hand. But when there are difficulties in the way, if our cravings are satisfied in only slight degrees, if there is something still left in suspense—if tradition, taking advantage of the popular credulity, hints at horrors without unveiling them—this, indeed, is more than sufficient to awaken within the larger portion of mankind that master-passion of the world.

Life within the closed walls of a harem furnishes a good example of what is mysteriously commonplace, for there no newspapers reveal the domestic drama of the Seraglio, as at home they cast publicity on each lengthy lawsuit or breach-of-promise case, so that the imagination, unhampered by facts, may range at will over thoughts of women sewn up in sacks and built into walls, children bowstrung and disappearing in the Nile, or a husband here and there suffocated among cushions by half a dozen of his jealous wives. All these things may, for aught we know, go on in harems, but the one we visited presented no tragedy of any kind to the outward eye, although it could hardly fail to afford most abundant interest to any human creature of western nationality. From the single fact that nothing, from eating and walking, to feeling and thinking, is done there as we do it.

JOURNEY TO THE HAREM.

This harem, in which we spent a couple of days, stood a few miles out of Cairo in the center of a large wall-surrounded garden, planted with date palms, olive trees and groves with melon and gourd beds running among them.

The owner of the house, a wealthy Turk, was so courteous as to meet his guests at the village of Z., about a mile from his residence, where he mounted us upon large, white asses richly trapped in crimson and gold, each led by a slave, while he, with his sons and retainers, accompanied us on horseback, making in all a goodly company and suggestive of something out of the Old Testament. On arriving at the harem garden we were admitted into its paradise of shade and rest by a heavy doorway, and a venerable old potentate who had headed our procession on an ass. At this juncture our bodyguard abandoned us, remaining without the walls, while we were left to make our way alone toward the group of women whom we saw approaching by the stone-flagged walk that led to the house. They were evidently the wives of our friend, whose invitation to visit his harem had given us an opportunity to satisfy in a slight degree the interest we had long felt as to private life in eastern countries.

SOME OF THE WOMEN HANDSOME.

These ladies were dressed in loose gowns of figured cotton, red and yellow, shoes, without heels, and scarfs of all colors. Some of the younger ones were handsome, being not much browner in the face than those of Spanish origin, while their manner and figures gave them an appearance of great dignity. One of the ladies present, Mirza by name (a niece of the Turk's), who had been born in Constantinople, was much more highly educated than the others, and able to talk French, and when preliminary greetings were over we followed her and our new friends through an archway into a square court, from whence we proceeded on a tour of inspection through many small rooms on the ground floor, all of which were empty except the innermost chamber. Here we found a fat old lady sitting on a low bench, cutting onions into slices with a knife, and eating them, mouthful about, with a child. At her feet on the floor lay a most perfectly graceful pose with her baby on her knee, was the beautiful Circassian wife of one of the Pasha's sons. The old lady told us, through Mirza, that her name was "Jesamine," the sweetness upon the walls of the home. This was the top of sliced onions was a little hard of understanding.

On seeing our interest in their customs, they became very friendly and allowed us to examine their ornaments, generally necklets made of gold beads strung together, and bracelets worn much larger and heavier than is ordinary to see in our country. Mirza, our interpreter, told us she was engaged to be married to her cousin Arton, her uncle's son, and showed us a ring that he had given her. It was a large, dull red stone, in the shape of a cartouche, with a small diamond finger, and it bore the inscription written in Persian characters. "There is a flower in the garden of Arton, and her name is Mirza."

TO WARD OFF EVIL SPIRITS.

Some of the other jewels were intended to keep off the influence of demons and night monsters, as a remedy against disease, curses, sorcery, and vengeance. In-law of the Pasha's insisted on our retaining an amulet of hers as a present. It was a small piece of shiny ebony, shaped like a fruit, and a second finger extended as if to bless, and its special property was to keep off the evil eye. We were sorry by accepting it to expose our friends to the risk in depriving her of the benefit of its protection, although glad to receive so curious an amulet, and she, almost too absurd to believe possible. They are a strange mixture of credulity and devoutness, although one would have both to understand their language and live with them before being able to know how far these superstitions emanate from their convictions or arise simply from long-descended habits.

In the same room where we found "Jesamine" sitting, we saw a friend exhibited to us the contents of a box that had come from Constantinople with Mirza ten years before. It was full of curiosities, and we saw some of the things in it had belonged to one of the wives of Mirza's father, and she, we were told, had been a European. It contained worn cap, gauze scarfs and gold-embroidered dresses. The lady to whom all these treasures had belonged was a certain Princess A., who must have possessed a very remarkable individuality, as she succeeded in escaping from the conventional limits of her husband's house, the bravery of this step can only be appreciated by those who have seen something of the extraordinary restrictions among the upper classes in harem life.

AN ESCAPE FROM THE HAREM.

Although we would like to have known many details of her story, even the simple facts are sufficiently interesting to bear repetition here. Princess A. was the only child of a Turk and an Austrian lady. She had passed her earliest years in considerable freedom; as her mother had been her father's only wife they did not live in a harem, but mixed unveiled in Constantinople society. Here, after her parents died, she met the Turkish officer to whom she betrothed herself, agreeing to marry him with the understanding that she was to be his only wife.

When the ceremony was over she was taken to his house, and very soon made the distressing discovery that he had several wives besides herself. Mirza's mother being among the number. This piece of deception, considering her liberal upbringing, naturally put an end to all respect and affection on her side, and she resolved to leave him if possible and seek the protection of European friends for herself, with their assistance try to recover some of her money, of which she had about $500 a year. How Princess A. escaped from the harem Mirza was unable exactly to tell us, as she was not 8 years old when that event took place; she remembers only the awed consternation and murmured unbelief as the news of the flight was whispered among them. She knew that the escape must have been made during the night, and that help must have been given from within as well as from without, as she believed it impossible for her to make her way unaided through the dozens of sleepers who would line the path between her and freedom.

A DANGEROUS UNDERTAKING.

If the harem in Constantinople from which she fled contained anything like the amount of human beings that we found under the same roof with Mirza, her escape must have been a work of amazing enterprise. For here there were about forty women, at least two dozen men servants, and more children than one could count; and it must be remembered that they don't sleep in rooms with a shut door, past which the quiet, collected fugitive might slip and gain the garden without detection, but their wicker beds are placed in rows where—in doorless rooms, blocking the passages, in rows round the courtyard, as sentinels on the flat roof and outposts in the garden. She would have to thread her way through this labyrinth of reclining humanity in the hot darkness of the house, and outside under the light of the moon that would throw a fearful glare on the sleepers in the garden full of senseless shades. She managed to escape, however, and nothing is left of her except the old camel-hair box, the worn dresses, the faded scarfs and her story, which will doubtless be handed down from generation to generation as a warning against rebellion in women.

We are glad to learn from Mirza that the Princess A. recovered some of her money through English influence, and continued to live in unveiled freedom until her death, which took place a few years ago in Constantinople. She had felt and suffered more, we hope, than falls to the lot of most harem ladies from the unfortunate circumstances that she had been brought up to enjoy and expect too much. After hearing this tale of rebellion we marvelled at the expression of quiet pleasure apparent on the faces of those around us, for they seemed to be profoundly happy in performing the simplest and humblest tasks of existence.

BATHING FOR DINNER.

We also in the drowsy warmth might have arrived at a state of similar apathy but for the mental anxiety that must ever attend uncertainty as to meal times. As hour after hour of the afternoon passed in conversation, slight-seeming and undisturbed starvation, our joy may be imagined when, shortly before sundown, we were requested to condescend to wash our hands in preparation for the principal meal of the day. We entered a room with tape around the wall; this whole apartment was the bath-house, for the water fell from the pipes straight to the floor, and the fashionable harem way of dressing for dinner was to remove all clothes and sit, stand or lie under a spout of running water. It was a lengthy business, as, in addition to their own ablutions, two or three dozen children had to be caught and scrubbed, though this operation after their capture was attended with less difficulty than would at first be supposed, for there is practically little trouble in pressing and undressing children that have nothing on.

These preparations concluded, we followed our hostess into a large room on the opposite side of the court with a long, low table down the middle. We seated ourselves on cushions, and each took possession of the flat place of some which supplied the place of a plate during the meal, those articles not being considered a necessary luxury. In the center of the table stood a large bowl full of white soup, from which everybody ate, taking as many spoonfuls as they chose from the common tureen with the long-handled wooden ladles provided for each guest. When this was removed a large piece of meat boiled in rag took its place, and was speedily diminished under the violent treatment it received from us, each one pulling a lump of meat from the joint with the fingers, and eating it off her own flat scone. We then had the tea, a curry of vegetables, followed by the Zazig, a pungent fruit and rice, called so from a native of that village having brought the receipt to the harem. Our meal, concluded by coffee, made in a corner of the room over red-hot charcoal in a copper pot, and poured thick into small glasses fitted in gold filigree cups.

MYRIADS OF CRAWLING THINGS.

The lady who made this rather disagreeable beverage was the same who had removed the center dishes during dinner, and she came back as a coal, and bore the delightfully desecrated name translated to us, of Lily in the Desert. When we had washed our hands in the Zazig, she brought for that purpose, everybody went to bed—some to the roof, others to the court, and some to the house. It was a very hot night with a glorious full moon, and we asked to have our beds placed outside at a short distance from the house, as the mosquitoes, swarms of which seemed never to cool, day or night. There was such a luxuriance of growth around the very shadows were weighed down by the weight of their immovable blackness as if varieties to the ground. Uncountable varieties of life were on the surface of the earth; it seemed as though a scorpion working its all in rotary motion disappeared behind a with green, podlike bodies, stood up with outstretched arms, as if to pray, but, catching sight of each other, naturally fell to battle, and with such fury that one was instantly hurled headless on the hot ground.

The sight of the fighting and praying with which ministers can alternate between these two absorbing pursuits, beds, resolved to close our eyes, but these fascinating distractions, but were assailed by a whirl of midges, gnats, mosquitoes, and even flies, which attacked from below, above, in every conceivable direction, and angrily with their wings, and we climbed to the roof of the house. We were made miserable by the consciousness of their undue proportions, and knew that she was the subject of many a joke on their account. Her face was not beautiful, but her figure was handsome and statuesque, and she once ventured to assume the role of a Greek statue in some tableaux vivants which were given before an audience composed of clever and distinguished wind. The sun blazed fiercely all day, and looked far away through the clouds of dust and smoke, and down against, under and through every possible hole and crevice in the shelters erected to protect man and beast.

Our kind hostesses, doubtless noticing the state of liquid stupefaction into which our wits had fallen, proposed that a story teller should be brought. When awaiting his arrival Mirza asked us to tell him a story of our country. The man on this occasion who recited for our amusement was one of their own servants; he sat cross-legged in a corner of the room, and commenced to gesture and roar in an unknown tongue, to the great interest of everybody present, ourselves included.

This story, which appeared to take as long in the recital of events as in their performance, reduced the man to a state of great exhaustion, and the sight of him made us ten times hotter than we had been before. As it came to an end, however, we were refreshed by the officially-announced news that the pasha, our father, had come to drive us back to the regions of plates and forks, high collars, tight dresses and barefaced women.

INTELLECTUAL FEET.

Large Pedal Extremities are Brainy
If not Beautiful.

[New York Telegram.] Small feet are considered by many to be a mark of aristocracy, but they certainly do not indicate superiority of intellect, for many women of supreme intelligence have had very large feet. George Eliot, for instance, who resorted to all kinds of devices to make her big feet appear small, was a most brilliant woman intellectually of her day, had such immense and ungainly feet that she was made miserable by the consciousness of their undue proportions, and knew that she was the subject of many a joke on their account. Her face was not beautiful, but her figure was handsome and statuesque, and she once ventured to assume the role of a Greek statue in some tableaux vivants which were given before an audience composed of clever and distinguished people, among whom was the witty Talleyrand. Mme. de Stael was grievously offended at hearing that her brilliant friend had invented a bon mot at her expense by remarking that the Spaniards have against her, for they look upon such a defect as akin to crime.

The Germans and Scotch are credited with having the largest feet in Europe, and Spanish women, particularly Andalusians, the smallest. The Queen Regent, who is Austrian and of aristocratic descent, is not blessed with small feet; they are large and broad, and she has the same defect as the Spaniards have against her, for they look upon such a defect as akin to crime.

A Spanish lady went to Berlin and a few days after her arrival, on dressing for a ball, she discovered that her maid had forgotten to pack the case containing her evening shoes. She sent out for a pair, giving one of her walking shoes as a sample, and after a prolonged absence the messenger returned saying that no shoemaker had anything so small on his premises except for very young children. The who city was searched, with the same result, and she was obliged to wear her walking shoes until some could be made for her. She showed her, for not one had to be made, which fact gives eloquent if not altogether flattering proof concerning the truth of what we hear about the size of the German ladies' feet. English women are great walkers and wear wide, comfortable boots for their long rambles, through muddy country lanes—they scorn rubbers—and in consequence their feet have become broad, but compared to those of their Scotch sisters, they are fairlike.

French women have short, thick feet and they are made rather to increase this appearance than otherwise. They wear their high heels almost in the middle of the foot, the instep is padded to arch it and the whole foot is long and narrow and uses every art to take off about half its length, the result being that as she gets older she is so troubled with corns and bunions that a pair of good old felt slippers—her husband's preferably—are the only things she can endure with comfort, and in these she will shuffle about the house, an eyesore to every one who sees her, donning the high heels, however, for outdoor wear religiously, for a true French woman will suffer the tortures of the Inquisition every day of her life with all the fortitude of a saint rather than wear a sensible, low-heeled shoe that would give any idea of the real shape of her foot.

A WONDERFUL WORKER.

Girl Who Sew, Paints, etc., With Her Tongue.

[New York Press.] Miss Fannie W. Tunison of Sag Harbor, L. I., is probably the most wonderful cripple in the world. Since the day of her birth her hands, feet and arms have been paralyzed, but, being of a most ambitious nature and entirely unwilling that she should be only a useless burden to those around her, she has, by the most untiring and painstaking efforts, trained her tongue to perform many of the duties usually accomplished with the hands. Her case, according to the best medical authorities, is without a parallel in the world, and to those who have seen this young lady at work it hardly seems possible that she could do all that she claims.

Miss Tunison, who is about 30 years old, is in no way deformed; in fact, she is a very good looking young lady, bright and intelligent and an excellent conversationalist. She lives with her father and two cousins in a little fisherman's cottage which was built by her grandfather, a seafaring man and a soldier of the war of 1812.

Every morning Miss Tunison, who is an early riser, is lifted by her father into her invalid's chair, which has a cleverly constructed work table attached to it. In this chair she remains throughout the day, held in by a strong band, which also supports her body, which is entirely powerless. In the winter the chair is placed by the front window, so that she can see the people passing along the sidewalk, while in summer she is wheeled out of doors and taken around the village. Everyone in the place knows the young and cheerful invalid.

In drawing she uses wax crayons or soft lead pencils. She is fond of drawing flowers with colored wax crayons, and when it is taken into consideration that she has not the use of her hands, but only her tongue to do it with, she arrives at some striking results. In stringing beads she is remarkably dexterous. She will place the needle after it is threaded upright in the cloth to hold it, and then with her tongue she will pick up some beads, one by one, and place them on the needle. When the needle is full she will take it out of the cloth and let the beads pass down on the thread and then put the needle in place again for more.

She has a metalophone, on which she loves to play occasionally to amuse herself, and will often, when she has friends in to see her, show them how she uses it. She places the instrument on the table, and, holding the mallet in her teeth, will manipulate it dexterously with her tongue.

OLDEST PENSIONER.

Last Surviving Soldier of the War of 1812 Reported Dead.

[A. F. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that although Hiram Cronk of Ava, N. Y., aged 99, is still carried on the pension rolls, press dispatches recently announced his death. He was not only the last surviving soldier of the war of 1812, but also the oldest pensioner. He served forty days in the fall of 1814 in the New York militia.

Of the four revolutionary widows still drawing pension, the youngest is Mrs. Mary Sned of Parkley, Va. She is now 83 years of age, and was born thirty-three years after the treaty of peace with Great Britain. Assuming that her husband was 20 years of age at the date of the treaty, he was 103 years of age when his wife was born and if she was 17 at the date of their marriage, he was 70.

PRACTICAL STUDIES FOR PUBLIC SCHOOL GIRLS.

The Board of Education Perfects Plans for its Model Kitchen, Sewing Lessons for the Four Grammar Grades—Men Must Learn to Sew.

Important business relating to the introduction of cooking and sewing into the public schools was transacted at yesterday afternoon's special meeting of the Board of Education. Miss Florence Stevenson, recently elected supervisor of teaching and cooking, gave practical suggestions.

It was decided to make cooking lessons compulsory for all the girls in the eighth grade of the Olive, Spring, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Boyd, and Hewitt-street schools, and for as many of the girls in the seventh grade in the same schools as could be accommodated. Children in other parts of the city cannot as yet be taught, as for the present there will be but one school kitchen. This is to be in the Sixth-street school, near the corner of Sixth and Los Angeles streets. The schools selected to send pupils there are those within easy distance.

Three lessons will be given every day, and fifteen classes can be accommodated each week. No class is to have more than twenty-four pupils. One lesson per week for a year has been found sufficient to give the pupils thorough training in all the fundamentals of kitchen economy.

The question of what fuel to use was referred to the Committee on Industrial Education, with power to act. The fuel will probably be gas, provided reasonable terms can be secured. If gas is used, each pupil will have two burners and a portable oven of her own. Miss Stevenson told the board that the children would be able to cook on coal stoves at home without difficulty, even if their preliminary training was on gas stoves. In the school kitchen will be the same coal stove. By the aid of this the children will be taught the science of fire-building, educated in the use of the dampers, and shown how the same results may be obtained by coal or wood as by gas.

The furnishing of the school kitchen was also referred to the Committee on Industrial Education, with power to act. This committee already having been empowered to do the necessary rebuilding of the kitchen rooms.

There was a discussion of what material to use to cover the tables in the school kitchen. There will be two tables each two feet wide and twenty-four feet long. Miss Stevenson said that ordinary wood-topped tables were objectionable, because they absorb grease and moisture. She recommended the use of non-absorbent materials, preferably tiles, or if not tiles, marble or plate glass.

Instruction in sewing was ordered by the board given to all the girls in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, except those who take the home economics course. This will provide something to occupy the girls' time while the boys are at Sloyd.

Miss Stevenson reported that she had priced materials, and that she had found that all the cloth, needles, thread, emery, and other supplies needed for a whole year's work in sewing could be procured at an expense of less than 10 cents per pupil. This estimate does not include scissors.

The schools have their own over a hundred pairs of scissors. Miss Stevenson believes that what extra ones are needed can be brought from home by the children. The Committee on Industrial Education was empowered to procure the sewing supplies according to Miss Stevenson's estimates.

Fifty men teach in the city's grammar schools. The perplexing problem was raised yesterday of how they are to teach sewing. The plan for sewing instruction provides that Miss Stevenson is merely to supervise the work in sewing, the class teachers to give the lessons according to her instructions. This will mean, unless change is made, that all the teachers, male and female, must take preliminary lessons under Miss Stevenson.

President Charles Cassatt Davis suggested the need of coordinating the work in manual training, which is becoming a vital part of the Los Angeles schools. The Sloyd work is now firmly established, and is being extended constantly. The instruction in domestic science is a radical departure which will see rapid growth. He suggested that it would be wise to place Mr. Kunou, supervisor of Sloyd, at the head of the manual training work of the city schools, thus securing unity and system. The matter was put aside for future consideration.

Mr. Kunou modestly disclaimed desire for such authority.

The value of the physical culture work in the city schools is expected to be much increased by the order given by the board yesterday that hereafter the children shall be given ten minutes of calisthenics in the morning and ten in the afternoon, instead of fifteen minutes all at once in the morning, as at present.

The children of many non-residents are said to gain admission to the city schools without paying tuition. To prevent this imposition, President Davis and Mr. Chambers were asked to prepare a form of an affidavit establishing residence, which it is proposed to ask parents to sign if their residence is doubted.

The vexed problem of what to do with the High School is the question which will take up most of the attention of the board at its next regular meeting. A resolution was passed yesterday asking the Superintendent, Ennis, and Principal W. H. Hough, to prepare a report in regard to what they think can be done to relieve the High School. The High School bonds were defeated and the hope of a new building temporarily buried. The present building now contains more than twice the number of pupils the original plans intended it should accommodate. The only way out of the difficulty seems to be to remove the ninth grade to some other building, but the need of all the existing buildings is so great that the board cannot see where the ninth grade is to be domiciled.

There is strong opposition to removing it from the High School, as likely to lower the standard of its efficiency and to weaken the connection which there should be between its work and that of the three other years of the High School.

PALOMA DOING EUROPE.

Latest News Concerning the Child Pianist's Condition.

Herr Thilo Becker and wife, who returned from a pleasant outing at Skyland, in the Santa Cruz Mountains, last week, have received advices which set at rest the alarming reports recently received in this city via Denver, concerning Paloma Schramm, the wonderful child pianist. According to the Denver story, Paloma was a mental and physical wreck, and was being brought back to this city by her parents for recuperation. According to the information of Herr and Mrs. Becker, who have corresponded regularly with Paloma's parents since they started on a tour with her, the story about her collapse is altogether unfounded.

The Times, on authority of J. T. Fitzgerald, former business manager of the child pianist, stated recently that Paloma was in London when last heard from, and about to start for Leipzig, Germany, to continue her musical studies. The very latest news received from the Schramms came on two postal cards, dated Vienna, August 12. One of these, from Herr Schramm to

[RAILROAD RECORD.]

HEAVY PASSENGER TRAFFIC.

All the Railroads in the West Crowded—Texas Oats.

Railroads all over the West are taxed to the utmost in handling the extremely heavy passenger traffic now coming to them in a regular way. Those lines which are busiest are borrowing cars from those less pressed, and where an old car is offered for sale it is picked up in double-quick time. The president of one of these roads says "farmers are afflicted with an excursion fever."

Texas farmers are having troubles of their own. They have 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels of oats for sale. The only available markets are along the Southern Mississippi River and into this territory Kansas farmers are able to ship oats at 16c per car, less freight. The Interstate Commerce Commission has been asked to step in and adjust the matter.

The Financial Chronicle says that for the first six months of the current year 172 railroads report an increase over the same time in 1898 in gross earnings of $1,750,000, and of net earnings of $1,250,000.

CAUGHT EN DESHABILLE
Man Who Forgot to Take His Clothes Before He Went.
While patrolling his beat on South Los Angeles street early Friday morning, Officer Fowler was approached by an excited young man, who had his arms full of male wearing apparel, including a pair of shoes. The young man, who is employed in the electric power-house, wanted advice. He said that he had been having a terrible time, and that he had discovered absolute proof of her infidelity. The young couple have not been living together for several weeks. On Thursday the young man received a communication from his wife, asking him to call on her, so that they might discuss their affairs and possibly reach a settlement. He was busy, he says, during the day, which prevented him from responding to the note until later. When he did go to his wife's room and knock on the door, it was opened, after some delay, by a man who was attired only in his trousers. The man hesitated for a few seconds, and then rushed by him, escaping down the stairway. The husband then went into the room and found his wife in bed with her child, an infant about 18 months old. The woman was confused and had nothing to say. The husband then gathered up the other man's shoes and clothing and went out in search of an officer. At his request, Fowler accompanied him to his wife's room. The woman had partially recovered from her confusion, and took matters very coolly. She told her husband that, as they had not been living happily together for some time, the best thing they could do would be to quietly separate and avoid publicity.

Men's Suits
Better than you would expect for $9.39.

We buy our men's suits of the most reputable wholesale tailors in America. Not one garment that is sweatshop made comes to our store. We know that our suits are made in sanitary work rooms and by men who are fully paid. We do not lower prices by cheapening quality or labor, but by buying in larger quantities than is customary. At regular prices our men's suits are cheaper than like qualities usually sell for. Now that the prices are reduced the saving is more noticeable. Sack suits for business wear, cassimeres, chevots and worsteds in well assorted styles, usual $12.50 and $15.00 qualities, are on sale at $9.39 a suit.

Fountain Syringes
Rubber goods are very delectable to the eye. A guarantee is absolutely necessary on rubber goods. An article may be ever so high or low priced, but if there is no guarantee it is unsafe to buy.
The roughly guaranteed fountain syringes with three hard rubber pipes, 4-qt. size is selling at 75c; the 2-qt. at 65c and the 1-qt. at 55c.
The "Rapid Flow" fountain syringe is well guaranteed; has the large size 4-qt. hose and a hard rubber pipe, 4-qt. size at $1.15; 3-qt. size at $1.20, and the 2-qt. size at $1.35.
Assorted kinds of water sets at 25c.

Flexible Rubber Dental Plates
Have many advantages over the old thick, cumbersome, ordinary rubber plates, and even over gold plates, being much lighter and thinner.
These plates are flexible, only a trifle thicker than heavy writing paper, fit closer and adhere better to the roof of the mouth. Particles of food and small seeds cannot get under them. They will last longer, are stronger than any other plates, and will not break, as they will give first, being flexible. Once tried none other will be desirable. Dr. Schiffman's, own process, brought to the notice of the public by him only, and made ONLY by us. A perfect fit guaranteed in every case of plate work.
Persons having trouble with their plates or in having plates fitted, are invited to call and consult us.
Beware of Cheap Imitators and Professional Jealousy.

It is Folly to Pay Higher Prices Than Ours
For fine Dental Work. Our modern methods enable us to do the very best dental work of all kinds without pain at prices within the reach of all.
Our Guarantee is Good.
We refer you to the Merchants' National Bank and people we have done work for. EXTRACTING TEETH. When best plates are ordered, ALL our work is guaranteed to be the very best. No better can be had anywhere no matter how much you pay. Consultation and examination free. Lady attendants for ladies and children. Open evenings and Sunday 4-noon.
